Subject: Identity Theft Task Force

To Whom It May Concern:

I've been reading about the Identity Theft Task Force, and am very interested in the plan you develop because I speak on Identity Theft for the Omaha Police Department, and have seen how destructive it is to a person's well being.

My question: Is the government still considering developing a National Identification Number card (NIN) that is separate from the Social Security Number card (SSN), that would have an individual's photo, or thumb print, or iris of the eye, and a different numbering system than the Social Security System?

If so, what would be the criteria for use of each card?

Thank you.
